PRESIDENT AGREES TO 3 NEW CRUISERS AUTHORIZED IN 1924

Amendment to Provide Funds Decided Upon at Conference.

TILSON HELD LIKELY TO OFFER IT TODAY

Yielding Is Accompanied by Pleas for Fewer Vessels in Butler Bill.

By NORMAN W. BAXTER.

President Coolidge and administration floor leaders yesterday sought to check sentiment in the House of Representatives which threatens to revise the naval appropriations bill upward against the expressed wishes of the White House and the director of the budget.

The bill offered the "big navy" enthusiasts, following a conference between the President and Representative John Q. Tilson, of Connecticut, at the White House, is an amendment to the naval bill appropriating funds for the preliminary work on the remaining three of the eight cruisers which were authorized in 1924. Tilson probably will offer this amendment today.

This yielding on the part of the President from his announced position that he did not wish to have any money appropriated for these cruisers was accompanied by the statement that a corresponding number would be cut from the suggested authorization of ten cruisers proposed in the Butler bill.

Whether the spirit of compromise between the administration viewpoint and the "big navy" enthusiasts in the House had come in time appeared to be a debatable question last night, judging from the views of House members expressed either in conversation or through their actions on the floor of the House.

The day was full of expressed and implied signs of revolt against a continuance of a big navy policy toward the navy, and many plans for enlargement in various forms.

Determined Opposition Voiced. Representative Fred A. Britten, of Illinois, voiced determined opposition to the proposal to cut the new authorization to seven cruisers in place of ten because of the suggested appropriation for the last of the three provided for in 1924. He also introduced a bill providing for the elevation of the guns on eleven of the American battleships to 30 degrees, and led the fight within the naval affairs committee to have the same sort of improvement made on the Oklahoma and Nevada when they are modernized at a cost of $13,500,000.

Representative Thomas S. Butler, of Pennsylvania, chairman of the naval affairs committee, attacked the method in which Representative Burton L. French, of Idaho, presented the comparative strength of the navies of the United States, Great Britain and Japan in his general statement on the naval appropriation bill, and said that he would not "permit an American to go to war on such ships as you have there."

Representative Carl Vinson, of Georgia, ranking Democrat member of the naval affairs committee, read figures to show that France and Italy had added greatly to their fleets and that the United States had scrapped 842,750 tons and built only sixteen vessels of 120,000 tons.

Representative Loring M. Black, of New York, charged that the question was whether the House considered the "future of Calvin Coolidge of more consequence than the safety of the republic" and that it was not a case of "what we can afford but what we need for protection."

Representative A. Platt Andrews, of Massachusetts, member of the House naval affairs committee, issued a statement.

3 MEN BELIEVED DEAD, 37 HURT IN SHIP BLAST

Baltimore Dockmen, Senseless, in Burning Garb Beside Pitch-Laden Craft.

FRENCH CADETS ESCAPE

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 4 (By A. P.).—Thirty-seven were injured and three workmen believed killed in an explosion aboard the French barque Richelieu at a Curtis bay pier of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad late today.

The Richelieu, out of Nantes, was loading pitch for Laurent, France. An unexplained blast turned the cargo into a seething mass of flames which continued to burn fiercely tonight until six hours after the explosion, the vessel turned over and sank.

Firemen, warned by cracking of the main mast, which was carried away, fled. Fire captains said all their men had escaped. Bodies of the missing men were believed to be in the hold, and to have gone down with the boat.

Of the injured, three—William T. Oulgoit, Joseph Toulgoit and Joseph Salauit—were members of the Richelieu's crew. The others were for the most part negro dock hands.

The three missing men also were believed to be negroes. Two workmen were seen by firemen to fall back into the flames as they struggled to escape from a blazing hatch.

Ten French naval cadets, attached to the Richelieu for training, were accounted for by Capt. Jules Cornec, the vessel's master, and Henry Palot, cadet instructor.

Capt. Cornec was in his cabin with J. L. Hagaman, of New York, a business representative in charge of the cargo, when the explosion threw both men to the floor. Capt. Cornec ordered all hands to the deck, ordered all hands ashore, and ordered the vessel to be hoisted.

Only half of the seventy men aboard the vessel or in her hold were able to respond, however. Firemen found many of the negro workmen unconscious, with their clothing on fire. Paul Magueres, a Frenchman, was killed. A crew of cargo trimmers out of a hatch were excluded.

The woman's husband left Washington last night for Norfolk to claim the body. He had been separated from his wife for about two years.

Professor's Trip Seen As Mission to Carol

Bucharest, Roumania, Jan. 4 (By A. P.).—Prof. Nicolas Jorga, Roumania's "grand old man," former tutor of Prince Carol, left for Paris this morning.

His mission, officially, is the delivery of his yearly addresses at the Sorbonne. Circles close to the Palace, however, believe he has been commissioned by the king to see Carol and arrange for the return of the former crown prince.

Senate's Power in Smith, Gould Cases Challenged

Attacks Made by McKellar and Walsh as Bingham Interrupts Tennesseean's Speech Against Illinoisan.

Counsel Defends Maine Man Before Subcommittee.

(By the Associated Press.)

Challenge of the right of the Senate to exercise unlimited power in passing on the qualifications of its members were heard yesterday on the floor and in committee room.

The cases at issue were those of Frank L. Smith, of Illinois, appointed to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator McKinley, and Arthur R. Gould, of Maine, elected for the remainder of the term of the late Bert M. Fernald.

Senator Bingham (Republican), Connecticut, interrupted a prepared speech by Senator McKellar (Democrat), Tennessee, against the seating of Smith to express the view that the constitutional convention had not intended to grant unlimited powers to the Senate in giving it the sole right to pass on the qualifications of its members.

This drew fire from Senator Walsh (Democrat), Montana.

The right of the Senate to inquire into charges that years ago Gould bribed a Canadian premier in connection with a railroad franchise was challenged before a Senate elections subcommittee by Frederick W. Hinch-

BRITISH CONCESSION AT HANKOW SEIZED BY MOB OF CHINESE

English Expelled; Custom House and City Hall Are Occupied.

U. S. MARINES MOVED IN FROM SUBURBS

Foreigners Are in Danger as Throngs of Coolies Fill City Streets.

Shanghai, Wednesday, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—Dispatches from Hankow say that at 7 o'clock yesterday evening a Chinese mob entered the British concession there, occupied the customs house, the municipal building and "expelled the British from the concession."

Chinese police are patrolling the concession, maintaining order.

Coolies Smash Gates.

Hankow, China, Jan. 4 (By A. P.).—The British concession here, scene yesterday of a violent anti-foreign demonstration, was overrun tonight with thousands of Chinese coolies who swarmed into the district during the afternoon after demolishing all barricades at the entrances.

The situation has reached a decidedly critical stage and is growing worse hourly. Chinese troops are guarding the home of British Consul General Herbert Goffe. The consulate and the British police station have been surrounded by mobs of coolies. Foreigners can not venture into the streets without danger.

American forces are being brought from suburbs toward Hankow as a precautionary measure. They will not be used unless American lives and property are endangered.

A rumor that the concession had been taken over by the Chinese spread to the Chinese section of the city, and brought additional crowds. Finding the report untrue, they shouted, "Let's take it now."

The concession is being policed by Chinese troops. British marines, sailors and police were withdrawn to headquarters in compliance with a request by Chinese authorities that they be allowed to maintain order.

Yesterday a handful of British fighting men, without firing a shot, held in check an infuriated mob of several thousand coolies. Three of the British were severely wounded.

CAPITAL WOMAN DEAD IN NORFOLK SHACK

Mrs. Olive C. Franklin Had Been Separated From Husband Here Two Years.

Mrs. Olive C. Franklin, 30 years old, estranged wife of Harry C. Franklin, who, until recently, had lived with his brother at 118 C street southeast, was found dead in a shack in Noes court, Norfolk, Va., yesterday morning by two boys who were searching for junk.

Dr. C. D. MacDonald, Norfolk coroner, declared the woman had been dead for about two days.

"People living in the vicinity told police they heard a woman scream late Sunday night," Dr. MacDonald declared. "There was no evidence on the body to presume she had died from foul play, adding that she had probably died from acute alcoholism."

The woman's husband left Washington last night for Norfolk to claim the body. He had been separated from his wife for about two years.

Fourteen Sailors BURNED IN EXPLOSION

Steam Drum Cover Aboard U. S. Destroyer Is Blown Off.

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 4 (By A. P.).—Ten enlisted men were severely burned about their faces and hands when a manhole on a steam drum on the destroyer Charles Osborne blew off at the navy yard this afternoon. All of the injured were removed to the Naval hospital here.

W. G. Moody, fireman, first class; S. Deuland, fireman, first class; H. Barnett, fireman, second class; P. J. Lyons, fireman, first class; P. F. Gillaspay, chief water tender; E. P. Leclair, fireman, first class; L. B. Douth, chief machinist's mate; J. R. Schmidt, fireman, first class; J. Ryan, water tender, second class; T. McGarvey, fireman, first class.

Four other members of the crew were slightly burned and were not admitted to the hospital. All except Schmidt are expected to recover. Schmidt received burns on various parts of the body and his condition is considered more serious than that of the others.

The accident occurred while the Osborne was docked and her engines were being given a dock trial in preparation for the destroyer's sailing for Guantanamo tomorrow. The ship was not damaged and will leave on time.

Chum's Fight in Vain; Shark Bite Kills Boy

Sydney, Nova Scotia, Jan. 4 (By A. P.).—The heroism of Stanley Gibbs, 15 years old, of Port Hacking, who fought a shark for the life of a friend, proved unavailing today when the companion died of injuries the fish had inflicted.

According to dispatches telling of the encounter, Gibbs jumped overboard and straddled the back of the shark when it attacked Merwyn Allum, his 15-year-old comrade. With nothing but his fists as weapons, he frightened the fish so that it released its hold on the younger boy. A second attack on Allum, however, as he was being dragged into the boat inflicted the fatal injuries.

CALLES ORDERS ACTION BE TAKEN AGAINST OIL MEN

Mexico City, Jan. 4 (By A. P.).—President Calles tonight instructed the department of industry and commerce to furnish the attorney general with the names of individuals or companies which have not applied for ratification of their rights under the petroleum and land laws, so that he may take action.

Indicating the intention of the government to enforce forfeiture of the rights of the foreign oil companies which have not complied with the new laws, the president ordered the attorney general to "take the action to which the nation is entitled" against such companies.

New York, Jan. 4 (By A. P.).—After a meeting of the Association of Producers of Petroleum in Mexico here today, officials of American oil interests declared that there were no developments in the situation growing out of the new oil law in Mexico. No discussion which might lead to a change in policy was held, it is understood, as only routine matters were taken up at the session.

NEW TREATY RELATIONS WITH CHINA PROPOSED

Porter Offers Resolution in House as MacMurray Is Recalled.

FAVORS SEPARATE ACTION

Coincident with the recall of John V. A. MacMurray, American Minister at Peking, to discuss Chinese matters with Secretary of State Kellogg, a move was begun at the Capitol yesterday to put the United States on record as favoring new treaty relations between the United States and China, based on fairness and reciprocity.

Representative Stephen G. Porter, chairman of the House committee on foreign affairs, introduced a resolution in the House which urges the administration to wipe the slate clean so far as old relations with China are concerned, and begin afresh with an independent American policy, untrammelled by attempted conservative action with the other treaty powers.

The fact that the British government already has made a move for abolishing restrictions and foreign control in China and has sought to take the lead in that respect has made the Porter resolution particularly timely, it is admitted. Both in the Senate and in the House there is pronounced support promised for the resolution, and in administration circles there are no signs of opposition to it. It may serve, it is explained, as a logical reason for the announcement of a new policy by the American State Department, especially if it develops that the American Congress is behind the views expressed in the resolution.

Secretary Kellogg has not yet decided whether to make the American position on China a matter of record at this time in a reply to the recent British memorandum, or whether to wait for the return of Mr. MacMurray, who will be here in February.

The Porter resolution is as follows: "Whereas by virtue of this treaty drafted at the Washington conference of 1921-22, the United States has engaged itself to respect the sovereignty, (Continued on page 4, column 6.)

REBELS IN MEXICO OPERATE ACTIVELY IN MANY REGIONS

Garrison in Coahuila Is Taken; Insurgents Near Capital.

RISINGS IN 3 STATES REPORTED QUELLED

Boldness of Bandit Bands Also Is Giving Trouble to Federal Troops.

Mexico City, Jan. 4 (By A. P.).—Revolutionary groups and bandits are operating actively in various parts of Mexico. So many reports have been current that it is difficult to confirm some of the alleged activities.

The war department admits that 40 revolutionists have captured the small garrison at Parma de la Fuente, state of Coahuila. Federal reinforcements have been dispatched to crush the rebels.

Officials also admit there has been a revolutionary attempt at Leon, but the war department denies it has information of any executions there, despite the fact special dispatches published in Mexico City newspaper reported eleven of the leaders were put to death.

It is possible these executions were carried out by the municipal authorities, and that the war department has no official report of them from the military commander. The department states that the military commander of Leon has reported only as follows: "A group of armed men attacked the small local garrison. The troops made a gallant defense and the rebels fled, leaving a few dead."

Zapata Officers Revolt.

Federal troops have surrounded in the Adajio mountains, near the capital, a rebel band, said by the war department to number 50, but said by the newspapers to number 200, which on Monday attempted a revolt in the town of Milpa Alta, about 15 miles from Mexico City. The rebels, allegedly led by two former officers of Zapata, notorious revolutionist, raided ranches and carried off horses, arms and ammunition and also kidnapped two Catholic priests.

The newspapers report that the band forced the priests to make speeches in the villages urging the people to revolt. The rebels proceeded to the mountains, and the war department predicts their capture or extermination, as 800 federal troops are closing in on them.

Newspapers also have received reports that 21 Catholic priests and 4 nuns were arrested at Tlalpam, a nearby suburb, on the charge of revolutionary activity and were brought to Mexico City and placed in jail. Inquiries at police headquarters tonight brought denial of knowledge of any such arrests and the assertion that no priests or nuns had been brought to the Mexico City prisons.

Reports that Catholics, as such, are involved in any of the revolutionary disorders or that Catholic leaders were among the revolutionaries executed at Leon were denied today by the Catholic episcopate, which added that the episcopate has not altered its attitude in refusing to sanction armed opposition over the religious situation.

The war department declares that the federal army is in control of the situation throughout the country, is suppressing and will continue promptly to suppress all uprisings. The war department denies that there is any general revolutionary movement under the religious situation.

Hines in New York Seeks Bank Aid in Veteran Loans

Veterans' Bureau Head Director in Continental Trust, Which Restricts Bonus Advances—Rankin to Seek House Inquiry by Resolution.

Facing an unyielding policy on the part of bankers generally in their refusal to make loans right and left to veterans on their compensation certificates, Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, director of the veterans bureau, went to New York yesterday to confer with bankers there in an effort to persuade them to a new course, something he has not been able to do with one of the largest financial institutions in Washington of which he is a director.

Along with the rest of Washington bankers, as well as those in other cities, the Continental Trust Co., of which Gen. Hines is a director, continued yesterday to turn down more than nine of ten applications from veterans for certificate loans. Like other banks they confined loans almost entirely to regular customers.

Wade H. Cooper, president of the company, declared that the officers and other directors of the trust company were forced by their best judgment to follow such a policy because of the difficulties with which the government has hedged about certificate loans.

Gen. Hines in New York, according to Associated Press dispatches, again publicly expressed his confidence that the widespread apathy among bankers toward certificate loans was due to lack of information and will eventually disappear.

Congress was called on to act immediately to remedy the situation in a resolution adopted by the Vincent B. Costello post of the American Legion, meeting in the District building last night.

The resolution was adopted after a heated debate. Richard J. O'Brien led the fight against the O'Brien resolution, declaring that it was too severe an indictment of the bankers. He was greeted with cheers and his caustic resolution threatened for a time to be shouted through quickly.

Daniel J. Donovan, District auditor, led the fight against the O'Brien resolution, declaring that it was too severe an indictment of the bankers. He was greeted with cheers and his caustic resolution threatened for a time to be shouted through quickly.

TACNA-ARICA PLAN REFUSAL TO SIGN IN WORDS OF LEGUIA

Peruvian President's New Year Message Says Solution Seems Far Away.

IDEALS MUST PREVAIL OVER MONEY, HE SAYS

New Proposal Useless if Kellogg's Present Measure Fails, Paper Holds.

Buenos Aires, Jan. 4 (By A. P.).—An intimation that Peru will refuse to accept Secretary of State Kellogg's proposal in the Tacna-Arica controversy is seen in a new year's message from President Leguia, published prominently by La Nación.

Secretary Leguia proposed that Peru and Chile end their dispute over the sovereignty of the province by ceding them to Bolivia. The Peruvian president's message to La Nación says:

"I hope 1927 will bring the much desired solution, although it now appears very far away. It is necessary, because the ideal formula destined to settle this serious matter, maintaining peace in America, is not that formula of convenience which proposes to substitute for money the claims of right, but another one which should be more in conformity with the spirit of our times and the mentality of our race, which subordinates the petty commercial ambitions to the superior ideals of justice and honor."

Lipsticks May Cause Expulsion by College

Convent Station, N. J., Jan. 4 (By A. P.).—Girls at the College of St. Elizabeth must refrain from wearing stockings, short skirts and lipstick under pain of suspension or possible expulsion, Sister Marie Jose, dean of the institution, today informed parents of the students in a letter setting forth the regulations, which, she declared, had been in "almost universal disregard." The regulations are:

Stockings are not to be rolled. The use of lipstick is prohibited. Skirts are not to be more than 12 or 15 inches from the ground, depending upon the height of the girl. Skirts are to be pleated or otherwise made to afford ample fullness. One-piece dresses do not ordinarily meet these requirements. Sleeveless dresses are not to be worn except at social affairs held in the evening.

Established in 1899, the college has an enrollment of 300 students, many of whom are daughters of families of wealth and social prestige.

noon newspaper, published by El Mercurio.

The latter is the paper which recently investigated against the return to Chile of American Ambassador Collier. Referring to reports that the United States would offer a new proposal in case Secretary of State Kellogg's present plan fell through, the Ultimas Noticias says this would be useless.

Failure of the Tacna-Arica controversy thus far, together with the United States' attitude in Nicaragua and the complications in Mexico, would deprive any new move by the United States of interest and prestige, it asserts.

Seen as Imperialism.

South America, Europe and Asia would regard such a move as further evidence of the "North American imperialism" displayed in the Kellogg proposal, inasmuch as that proposal, the paper charges, favors Bolivia, "being an indirect manner of bolstering up the position of the United States in that country, which already is dominated by the dollar."

The paper believes Chile should declare the arbitral attempts at an end and announce her annexation of Tacna and Arica, or else take the matter to the Permanent Court of International Justice.

Expressing belief that the Chilean foreign minister is capable of handling the matter, and that he will soon put an end to "the hateful Washington negotiations," the editorial concludes with the expression: "For Chile's sake, enough of Kellogg!"

"QUEEN OF COOKS" VISITING NEW YORK

Owner of London Hotel, She Began Her Career as Scullery Maid.

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Jan. 4.—Mrs. Rosa Lewis, culinary artist to English aristocracy, known as the "queen of cooks," arrived today aboard the Cunarder Berengaria, during her two weeks' stay here, she will receive visits from many old friends, among them many prominent in the social register, who in other years have been guests at the Cavendish hotel, London, of which Mrs. Lewis is the owner and manager and chief cook.

Despite her 61 years, Mrs. Lewis looks young, spirited and, in a way, dashing. She began as a scullery maid at 13, and before she was 20 had won prominence by her culinary art. She soon came to be in demand whenever there was a special occasion in the homes of the wealthy. King Edward was particularly fond of her cooking. Thirty-four years ago she bought the famous Cavendish house.

HELD UP PAY ROLL, SAYS FIRM'S VICE PRESIDENT

Kansas City Man Blames His Escapade on "Drinking and Wild Women."

MONEY ALL PAID BACK "BE CONCISE," HIS PLEA

Special to The Washington Post.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 4.—A middle-aged man of 30 years, questioned today by detectives at police headquarters concerning his part in the holdup of the Townsend Printing Co.'s pay roll of $1,500 in December of last year, agitated his hearers by admitting the charge readily and explaining he was the vice president of the Townsend Co. Daniel McHenry further explained he still was vice president of the Townsend Printing Co., and held a $50,000 interest in the concern.

Blaming "drink and wild women," McHenry gave the details of the holdup in which he drove a rented car, carrying three other men in the robbery of Milton E. Townsend, president and treasurer of the printing establishment. His share in the loot was about $300 which he said he spent in drinking.

To verify the statement of McHenry, which was first given orally, L. E. Toyn, chief of detectives, sent for Townsend and for Charles H. Kirchner, president of the Bankers Mortgage Co., trust value of $100,000.

Identified by McHenry from his father, Townsend said it was all true. Furthermore, the money had been restored by an insurance company. Kirchner said he had reimbursed the insurance company.

"I will not prosecute McHenry," Townsend said. "Anyway, I couldn't identify him as one of the men who robbed me. I never saw him. According to the confession, Townsend and Kirchner had had knowledge for some time that the police were seeking McHenry, who was a 'former employee' of the Townsend Printing Co. Kirchner assisted McHenry to leave Kansas City for reconstruction of his life."

McHenry said he had been in the city since his escape from the holdup. He said he had been in the city since his escape from the holdup. He said he had been in the city since his escape from the holdup.

LEOPOLD, AGAIN IN COURT, TURNS AT QUESTIONS

Appears With Loh in Suit of Taxi Driver, Asking $100,000 Damages.

"BE CONCISE," HIS PLEA

Special to The Washington Post.

Joliet, Ill., Jan. 4 (By A. P.).—Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, "thrill killers" of Bobby Franks, were brought into court here today from the State prison and identified as defendants in a suit for $100,000 brought by Charles Ream, Chicago taxicab driver, who charges they kidnapped and murdered his son, November 1923.

Loeb and Leopold, presenting sleek and natty appearances, smiled their way through the cross-examinations, and heard Ream tell his story of the attack, in which he identified them as his assailants.

Neither of the players, now serving life sentences, seemed inspired by the proceedings. They appeared to enjoy the opportunity to visit with friends and attorneys. It was Loeb's first appearance outside the prison in two years. Early today habeas corpus proceedings were authorized for their appearance here.

Neither prisoner showed any strain of prison life, and they said they were "as happy as could be expected."

During his examination, Loeb told attorneys he was studying history, and when emphasis was laid on the question, "What kind" he retorted, "All kinds."

Loeb was in the witness chair when Leopold entered the courtroom. Loeb nodded and the two men exchanged the salutation with equal animation.

Loeb's brief testimony dealt almost entirely with his preference in cars, what automobile he drove in 1923, and what kind of car Leopold owned.

His testimony was brief and to the point, and he answered the questions "be more concise." He said that his life story had been that of a bird, but he had never used a knife in the study of bird life. He finally admitted he did. Both Leopold and Loeb were cross-examined and it was not expected that they would be recalled to the stand tomorrow, although it was announced that they would be called to the stand.

The case is expected to be given to the jury some time tomorrow.

Will Rogers Says Government Boozes Can Win Next War

Special to The Washington Post.

Dodge City, Kans., Jan. 4.—Talk about America being unarmed and unprepared for the next war. Why, say, we are setting pretty. Give the enemy a party the night before the war starts and serve government booze. Government statistics prove they are running about five funerals to the kill. If you can't make ten obey, kill 'em.

P. S.—And we are the country that wants to outlaw poison gases in war for humanitarian reasons.

The rambling Mayor, WILL ROGERS.

NEW PHILHARMONIC SCORES IN CONCERT HERE

Masterpiece by Beethoven Proves High Light Under Mengelberg Direction.

PRAISE FOR CONDUCTOR

Beethoven's immortal masterpiece, the "Symphony No. 5 in C Minor," was the high light of the concert given by the New York Philharmonic Orchestra at the National Theater yesterday afternoon under the direction of Wilhelm Mengelberg, the Dutch conductor. The concert was given under the local management of the T. Arthur Smith Concert Bureau.

The symphony was beautifully played, "the andante motto," the usual stumbling block in the movements of this classic, being given with a discriminating tempo, and the power and depth of feeling that distinguishes this great work was evident at all times during its rendition.

The Philharmonic orchestra never was heard here to better advantage. The orchestral tone was rich, sonorous or charmingly modulated to gentler uses. But whatever the particular uses of the moment, the tones always were warm and always excellent in balance and proportion. It was clear that all the players were on their mettle and each and every man well versed in the numerous appliances which greet the conclusion of the symphony. There are few dynamics about Mr. Mengelberg's method of conducting, but his leadership brings the happy response from his men of zest and quickened action.

In his reading of the symphony, Mr. Mengelberg did not let his listeners lose a single detail and the sweep of the interpretation was noble and heroic. This same treatment was apparent in the three great Wagner preludes which opened the program. Mengelberg knows his Wagner equally as well as his Beethoven, and there was grip and sweep and eloquence in all of them as the emotional pulse which held the audience tense until the preludes were concluded.

Altogether the concert was truly a memorable performance and the frequent applause was well earned.

Officers Installed By Jewish Association

Leonard Visman was installed as president of the District of Columbia Hebrew Beneficial association at the annual meeting of the organization last night at the Jewish Community center. Harry Carroll was chairman of the meeting.

Other officers installed were B. Brill, vice president; Morris Carfinkle, treasurer; J. R. Salus, general treasurer; M. L. Dreben, financial secretary, and Abraham Tavis, recording secretary.

Two Groups of Singers Give Pleasing Programs

Yesterday was a busy day musically in Washington, and in addition to the concert of the New York Philharmonic society at the National Theater, a concert was given by the Dudley Buck Singers for members of the cabinet and the members of the House of Representatives, and the Davidson Glee club of Congress, and the Davidson Glee club of the Pierce hall. All sang in the church, last night.

The Dudley Buck Singers, heard at the Library of Congress, made up of the following octet: Millicent Robinson, Alma Miletad, Adelaide de Loca, Henry Moeller, Frank E. Forbes and Leslie Arnold.

The ensemble tone was of a particularly lovely quality, the voices blended beautifully and with artistic finish. The program given included a number of seventeenth and eighteenth century songs, and a notable composition was that entitled "The Evolution of the Spanish Bitter."

The Davidson Glee club program featured several Christmas carols of French, German, and Italian origin. This organization, led by John R. Monroe, is rapidly coming into its own in local musical circles, and its programs are noted for the high standards maintained in the selections presented in them.

Mr. Adolf Torovsky, organist of Epiphany church, was the assisting soloist of the evening, and Cathleen Carro was the soprano soloist. In "Two Ambassadors," by Debussy, Mr. Torovsky displayed a classic style and good finger work.

The work of the Glee club was good in quality and exhibited the results of most careful training and a keen sense of musicianship.

OFFICERS INSTALLED BY RETIRED SOLDIERS

Maj. Gen. A. A. Fries Urges Preparedness at Annual Meeting.

Maj. Gen. Amos A. Fries, chief of the chemical warfare service, gave the principal address last night at the annual installation of officers of the Retired Enlisted Men's association in Pythian temple. He denounced pacifism and advocated the upkeep of adequate military and naval power at all times.

The officers installed were: Robert W. Price, commander; William Daby, another vice commander; William E. Fisher, junior vice commander; William Wright, quartermaster; Axel Hylen, adjutant; Charles A. Martin, officer of the day, and John C. Chaplin, M. E. Murray, retiring commander, introduced Gen. Fries.

The entertainment was headed by Miss Anne Brinley, who played violin selections, danced and sang. Others who entertained were Theodore Rosenfeld, pianist; William Singler, tenor and Maj. Charles J. Ferris, U. S. A., monologist and singer. Samuel Silverman was general chairman, assisted by John Britney, chairman of entertainment; John Baptista, music, and Mr. Wright, refreshments. A dinner and dance followed the ceremonies.

BOTANIC GARDEN SITE WILL BE TAKEN UP NOW

New Bartholdi Fountain Location to Be Determined First by Committee.

INSPECT CAPITOL FRIEZE

Relocation of the Botanic garden in the two squares south of its present location will be taken up immediately by the congressional joint committee on the library and David Lynn, Capitol architect. George W. Hess, director of the garden, and the joint library committee will confer with William E. Parsons, of the firm of Bennett, Parsons & Frost, Chicago, regarding plans for the garden on the new site.

A new location for the Bartholdi fountain will be determined first, and Parsons, a landscape architect, will submit estimates on the cost of a new conservatory and other buildings at the meeting this week, early action being taken to hasten the removal of the garden authorized in an act now awaiting the President's signature.

The joint committee on the library also made an inspection of the historic frieze in the Capitol rotunda yesterday, regarding its completion, but no action was taken, some members believing that portions should be left blank for depiction of future events. A decision will be made at a later meeting.

$50,000 Suit Based On Fall of Ham Tree
David F. Fisher, 1329 Fairmont street northwest, who says that a ham tree fell on him on August 11 last, and pinned him to the floor for 30 minutes, filed suit yesterday in circuit court against the City of Washington, to recover $50,000 damages for alleged personal injuries.

Through Attorney Emerson, Hinman and Kelly, the plaintiff says that his duties with the defendant packing concern required him to be about the ham tree, which was loaded with 650 pounds of ham. Due to the defective construction of the tree, it is alleged, it collapsed.

Those Lucky Pullens!

by MALCOLM DUART
(Copyright 1926 by Eugene MacLean)

THE STORY SO FAR.
The purchase of a Chinese lacquered chest by Fred Pullen's wife is followed by a burglary in their home. A Chinese, whom they thought was a friend, is the thief. Pullen's daughter, Julia, pretty, dark and 19, is forbidden by her mother to talk to Sam Carlin, a neighbor, because of a fight about the dog by Mrs. Hamilton, a neighborhood gossip. Julia loses her first job as a stenographer. As the last chapter of the family is analyzed by a crash of splintering wood downstairs.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER IV.

"It's that Chinese again!" gasped Pullen, as he tumbled out of bed. His wife took a firm hold of his pajama coat. "Fred, don't you go down there!" she ordered. "He'll kill you!" A brief and heated argument ensued. Further noises of splintering wood came from below, as Pullen tugged at his night-clothing in an effort to free himself.

Ultimately he broke away, and running into the hall, touched on the downstairs lights.

"Halt! I've got the drop on you!" he shouted.

In fact, he had no revolver; no weapon of any kind. Cautiously he made his way down the steps.

Midway, he was startled by a sound of shattering glass.

"Halt!" he yelled again, and moved more rapidly.

As he entered the living room, he noted at a glance that one of the two front windows was broken. Before him, in the middle of the floor, lay the Chinese lacquered chest, its top splintered, the drawers scattered over the floor.

A movement in the corner made Pullen jump.

"Halt!" he cried. "I'll shoot! Don't move or—"

His voice dropped abruptly. It was Julia, in her smock-colored nightgown, who was in the corner.

"Good heavens, Fred!" she said angrily. "What did you come down here for alone? That burglar might have killed you! Are you hurt?"

He looked at her, and took her by the arm.

"Did he hurt you?" he insisted.

"No, but he scared me," she said. "I was half-paralyzed with fright. Pullen put his arm around her. "Don't be afraid, kid," he said. "The burglar's gone."

His daughter began to speak. "I thought you were going to shoot me," she said, gulping. "I was so afraid that I couldn't speak."

She looked at her father, and then at the broken window. "What do you mean by coming down here to be killed?" she asked.

"I didn't come to be killed," rejoined the girl, sulkily. "I heard a noise and came down to see what it was."

Pullen was frowning at the broken window. "That fellow was in a hurry when you got here," he said. "He smashed that window just as I was coming down stairs."

Julia nodded. "He shoved me over in the corner," she said, "and then I heard an awful smash—that chest breaking. I think—and in a minute you called from the stairs, and then he broke the glass and climbed out of the porch."

Her father walked to the damaged opening. "Funny thing," he said. "Look here." He tapped the window-sash with his forefinger. "The sash is raised—the window was wide open when he broke it. Just look."

Between the lower and the upper sash were large pieces of the window-pane. The glass in the inner sash was in bits. The outer half of the window was uninjured.

"He must have pried the window open and climbed in," Pullen said, "but why he broke that glass getting out is beyond me!" Pullen pulled down the sash, he made further examination.

"Eise, you didn't lock this window when we went to bed," he accused.

His wife came running. The lock showed no sign of being forced.

"Eise!" said Pullen. "That window was locked. All he had to do was to open it."

"But I locked it!" his wife cried. "I did so! I locked it the last thing before I went upstairs."

Her husband shook his head. "The lock's open, and the window's open, and we've had burglars again, and it's a mercy Julia wasn't killed in her sleep."

Mrs. Pullen, with many words, was insisting that she had done her duty, and locked the window tight before she retired, but her husband was interested in another discovery.

"Look here," he said. Stopping, he picked up a short ax that lay half concealed behind the broken lacquered chest. "Here's what he busted that Chinese box with," he said. "It's ours—that's our ax, Eise, out of the cellar!"

Julia's eyes were vacant, as if she were half paralyzed with fright. "I thought you were going to shoot me," she said, gulping. "You said 'Halt. I'll shoot!' And I was so afraid that I couldn't speak."

His wife inspected the implement, round-eyed. "It is our ax," she confirmed. "I remember that little nick in the handle, where you tried to pry open a box, and besides—"

"You don't have to prove it to me," he interrupted. "Of course it's our ax, Julia!" He looked around. "The girl was gone. 'Julia!' he cried loudly.

The girl's voice answered from upstairs. "Yes, daddy!" he answered, with a short laugh. "I didn't see you go—thought maybe you'd been kidnapped."

Julia's answer came from the head of the stairs. "I was cold—I came up here to get a kimono."

"All right," her father said. "You go and tumble into bed. I'll call up the police."

When the policeman arrived, Mrs. Pullen was huddled on the living-room floor, in tears over the destruction of her Chinese chest. The officer was the one who had answered their previous alarm.

"More Chinks, eh?" he said. He examined the front window, with its mysteriously open lock and its problem of the needlessly broken pane. He looked at the ax, and at the splintered chest.

"This looks like an inside job to me," said he. "You got any Chinks working for you?" Pullen explained that his wife did all her own work.

"Then this gink must have hid in the house, behind your door," the policeman surmised.

Not long afterward Julia came running up the steps. "There's a delivery man out here with a parcel," she called, opening the door.

Mrs. Pullen came, and received the package—a large one, in her arms. "I wonder what this is?" she marveled. "I didn't order anything." She had it on the floor now and was staring at it.

"You might open it," Pullen suggested. "I didn't order anything, either, except a glass for that front window."

He drew out his knife and cut the heavy twine that bound the parcel. Removing several layers of paper, he pulled out a duplicate of the Chinese lacquered chest. On the top was a paper, inscribed: "To Mr. and Mrs. Pullen."

Julia was called, and she related her story in detail. She had heard "peculiar noises," she said, and had crept down the stairs. A man had seized her, in the dark, and thrust her into the corner. Then had come the noise of splintering wood, her father's call, and finally the breaking of glass as the man fled through the front window.

"It's confoundingly funny," said the officer, as he finished making his notes. "Two burglaries; no clue; a Chinese that floats out the upstairs window one time and the downstairs window the next time?" he interrupted himself.

"It was a Chinese, wasn't it?" he asked Julia.

"I couldn't see him at all," said she. "It was too dark."

"Huh," said the officer. He put on his overcoat, and as he left, advised the Pullens to lock their bedroom doors. "Funny doings around here," was his farewell comment.

A second night of lost sleep was almost too much for Pullen. He managed to leave on time in the morning, but again he did so without breakfast, and a second day's growth of beard upon his face.

"For two cents, I'd stay in bed," he growled, as he trotted down the steps, stumbling once or twice with fatigue.

Mrs. Pullen was approaching her noonday tasks when Julia finally appeared.

"I'm going out to look for a job," said the girl, as her mother hurried a late breakfast to the table.

"Goodness knows, I'm afraid to let you out of my sight," the older woman fretted. "What with Chinese running in and out of the house, and smashing things, and scaring the evening, and daylight out of me, I'm so nervous I can hardly breathe."

She watched her daughter's departure with anxious eyes, and was staring at it. Before she returned to her housework, she locked and bolted the doors, fastened all the windows, and placed the sideboard against the broken front window, as added protection. She had hauled the heavy piece of furniture from the dining room, and the effort left her breathless.

A glazier appeared toward evening to replace the pane of glass. Pullen came not long after, and he shoved the sideboard back to its place.

"Why didn't you haul the kitchen stove in, while you were about it?" he said, ironically. "Why be contented with just a sideboard against the window?"

"I don't," said his wife. "If you would take me some place to live where we don't have Chinese every night, you'd be doing your duty as a man."

He gaped at her. "Do you mean I bring these burglars?" he inquired.

"I mean I say the burglar returned. 'Other men don't have their wives frightened to death every night.' Pullen shook his head wonderingly, but said nothing. He paced up and down the living room, waiting for Julia to return.

"Clock came, and 6:30. 'Funny she don't come!' Pullen said, looking at his watch.

Not long afterward Julia came running up the steps. "There's a delivery man out here with a parcel," she called, opening the door.

Mrs. Pullen came, and received the package—a large one, in her arms. "I wonder what this is?" she marveled. "I didn't order anything." She had it on the floor now and was staring at it.

WIVES OF TOMORROW

By FRANCES McDONALD

A Backbone of Jelly.

My Dear Miss McDonald: I am a constant reader of your column, and for months have tried to write to you, but just put it off, hoping that the next day would bring me peace and contentment, but I can wait no longer, so am writing for your advice. I have been married three years—it is the same old story, Miss McDonald, about girls marrying beneath their standard. My husband is uneducated, but possesses a splendid moral character, and with this quality as a foundation, I thought I could elevate him and broaden his mind, but in all this time it has proved fruitless.

I am 21 and my husband is six years my senior. He has an uncontrollable temper, and you can not imagine how I have been hurt and embarrassed on numerous occasions—but the worst is yet to be written.

I realize now, that I am secondary in life. This has been proven to me often. His people are all self-supporting, but he would see me, in preference to them. He takes no interest in his appearance and ridicules any one who has pride. This has gone on so long, Miss McDonald, that I have lost all my friends and am losing my grip on life. Some times I feel that I would rather be dead than to live on and suffer as I have for so many months.

My parents are very well fixed, and knowing this, my husband does not think it necessary for him to support me. But I am too independent to allow them to do so. My husband draws a good salary, but I am never taken into consideration other than our rooms and meals—no money, no clothes. He is always telling me that I have never given in an inch because I won't live and let him be dead than to live on and suffer as I have for so many months.

Michigan Five Wins From Maryland

Coach Little, Wisconsin, Retires

Old Line Team Routed in Second Half; Score, 39-25.

Oosterbaan, Harrigan and Adams Are High Point Scorers.

Special to The Washington Post.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Jan. 4.—Maryland university basketball team came out of the East tonight for a lone game in these parts and was subjected to a 39-25 defeat at the hands of the University of Michigan quintet which led virtually the entire route.

Frank Harrigan, flashy Michigan forward, was the individual star of the contest, his eight field goals keeping the Wolverines in the lead and offsetting brief spurts by the Maryland team. Bennie Oosterbaan, universal choice for all-American end last season, played at guard for the Wolverines and came through with three field goals and a foul toss.

The game, featured by the cautious defensive play of the first half, developed into a scoring spree during the final period and it was at this stage of the play that Michigan drew out to a commanding lead.

For the first nine minutes of play the score stood, 2 to 1, in favor of Michigan as a result of Oosterbaan's field goal and a foul toss by Adams, giant center of the Maryland team. Oosterbaan resumed the scoring for Michigan at this point, but Faber, Adams and Stevens countered with field goals for Maryland and the visiting team jumped out in front for the only time in the contest. Harrigan got in his deadly work thereafter and Michigan easily drew out in front, never to relinquish its advantage.

At the end of the half, Michigan was in the van, 15 to 11, but with the resumption of play, the Wolverine offensive got under way in earnest and in a few minutes the visitors were trailing on the short end of a 21-to-11 score.

Adams was the outstanding performer for Maryland. The giant center accounted for four field goals. Snyder and Faber also contributed in lesser degree to the Maryland attack. At the start of the fourth quarter, Michigan injected a number of substitutes into the game.

Edvin Wide, Conqueror Of Narmi, Lands in U. S.

New York, Jan. 4. (By A. P.)—Edvin Wide, the Swedish schoolmaster who spends his spare time cracking world's running records, expects to give Americans this winter an indoor exhibition of the speed that carried him to victory over his Finnish rival, Paavo Nurmi, last September. Wide arrived today on the Berengaria primarily for a study of American public schools, but he also is likely to appear in several Eastern and middle Western indoor meets.

Wide is 31 years old, wiry in build and as reticent as Nurmi. He discovered his running ability quite by accident, he said, in 1920, when he outstripped all rivals in athletic contests held in connection with his school training. Like Paavo, he has no set training schedule, does not diet or have any set conditioning formula.

Wide will not compete this Saturday in the K. of C. indoor meet at Brooklyn.

BASS TO BOX CHAPMAN AGAIN

Suspension Waived After Foul Bout Listed Feb. 4.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4. (By A. P.)—A return featherweight match between Red Chapman, of Boston, and Benny Bass, of Philadelphia, was approved today by the State athletic commission. If present plans go through, they will meet in a twelve-round match February 4 at Madison Square Garden as the semifinal to the Busby Graham-Phil Rosenberg bantamweight championship bout.

Bass won on a foul from Chapman last Saturday night at Madison Square Garden in the first round of a bout that was to have determined an opponent for Honey Boy Finnegan, of Boston, featherweight title claimant. The commission considered this result so unsatisfactory, however, that it ordered a return bout at the same time waiving, in Chapman's case, the usual suspension for fouling.

The commission tabled a request from Jack Bernstein, Yankees junior lightweight, to replace Babe Herman, of California, as an opponent for Tod Morgan, of Seattle, the titleholder, in a championship match at Madison Square Garden some time in February. Morgan, who hopes out of his class to fight Phil McGraw, of Detroit, at the garden this Friday, had agreed to meet Herman. The latter was defeated last Saturday by Al Winkler, of Philadelphia, at Madison Square Garden.

Tommy Loughran, of Philadelphia, and Chuck Wiggins, Indianapolis heavyweight, were reinstated after a 60-day suspension which was meted out in Rhode Island and concurred in by the local solons.

The right to stop bouts when a participant is in danger of serious injury through punishment, hitherto the sole privilege of the referee, was vested also in physicians assigned to boxing shows by the commission.

The commission was authorized to so instruct the board's doctors as a result of the death of Benny Kenwood, New York featherweight boxer, following his collapse in a preliminary contest last night.

Mike Spiegel, Kenwood's opponent, was held in $1,000 bail examination Tuesday by Magistrate Corrigan, but five officials of the boxing club, arrested in connection with the fight, were discharged.

Zach Wheat May Sign With New York Giants

New York, Jan. 4. (By A. P.)—Zach Wheat, veteran outfielder recently cast aside by the Brooklyn Robins, may catch a line thrown out by the New York Giants.

Manager McGraw admits he is interested in Wheat. He also expresses high satisfaction over receiving the signed contract of infielder Bill Terry, who was the Giant's most obstinate holdout last spring.

Tilden's Trip To France Cancelled

"Big Bill" to Perform in California and Florida.

Will Lead U. S. Team Abroad in Spring as No. 1 Man.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4. (By A. P.)—"Big Bill" Tilden today canceled his proposed invasion of France's tennis strongholds along the Riviera for the winter season and in preference will visit California and Florida, then going abroad in May and June as the No. 1 man of an official American team which will compete in the leading French and British tournaments.

Tilden, in a formal statement, explained that business affairs would prevent him from going to the Riviera, and also accepting the invitation of the United States Lawn Tennis association to head its picked team later.

As a result, the former national champion will leave next Monday for California for a "rest and a little tennis," returning to Florida in time to take part in the Miami championships, starting February 28.

Tilden denied any intention of playing in California in a proposed "open championship" sponsored by Charles C. Pyle, manager of the Lenglen-Richards professional troupe. "There's no chance of my entering," he said. "I am an amateur who did would immediately professionalize himself."

Tilden's trip to California and Florida will keep him out of the national indoor championships in New York in February. The indoor crown has been won by Frenchmen for the last two years, Jean Borotra in 1925 and Rene Lacoste in 1926, but there is no prospect of another Gallic invasion this winter.

This year will be the third straight in which the U. S. L. T. A. has sent a men's team abroad for the principal foreign tournament. Ray Casey and Vincent Richards and Howard Kinsey, now professionals, were leaders of the 1926 invasion of Paris and Wimbledon.

300 to Tee Off Today In $10,000 Coast Meet

Los Angeles, Jan. 4. (By A. P.)—Three hundred golfers will tee off on six courses here tomorrow in the qualifying round of the $10,000 Los Angeles open tournament.

Some 40 national and international stars are exempt from the 36 holes of qualifying play.

The first round of the tournament will be started Friday at El Camarillo Country club, with 128 golfers in competition—the exempted stars and the low scorers in tomorrow's qualifying round.

The 64 low players for the first 36 holes, 18 of which will be played Friday and Saturday, will qualify for the final championship 36 holes of medal play Sunday.

More than half of the players entered in the tournament are from out of town, and officials of the junior chamber of commerce, in charge of the event, declared the field to be the largest and most colorful array of professional golfers ever seen west of the Rockies.

No Dividends Paid by Nats

Profits Used in Purchase of Rookie Players.

Griffith, Richardson and Eynon Are Renamed Officers.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

THE annual stockholders' meeting of the Washington Baseball club which was held yesterday did not result in the New Year's present in the way of dividends which featured the meetings of 1925 and 1926, when 40 per cent was declared. According to the treasurer's report for the 1926 season, the comparatively small profit made was expended for the purchase of buyers for the coming season and no interest was paid on the owner's investments.

Following the sad news handed out by the treasurer, Clark C. Griffith, William M. Richardson and Edward B. Eynon, Jr., were rechosen members of the board of directors, this trio meeting later in the day and electing for another term the present officers: Griffith, president; Richardson, vice president and treasurer, and Eynon, secretary and assistant treasurer.

Had the weather been and the Nats been on better terms last season the club would have made a nice little showing. However, Washington not only was unfortunate in having a number of good players quit, but on innumerable other occasions dark clouds and slight drizzles kept the fans away from the park on days when contests were finally staged.

Among the several "big" games which the Nats lost altogether were two Sunday dates in Washington, one Sabbath date in Detroit for which a sellout was reported, the Cleveland-Canada day in the Forest City, which promised to fill Dunn field, a double-header Labor day date with the Yankees in New York, with another twin bill wiped off the books on the following day, and any number of other games which would have helped out.

As was exclusively published in The Post several weeks ago, $115,000 already has been paid out for new talent for 1927. This year the club is obligated to put out $36,000 more in case certain rookies make good, as follows: Pitcher Decatur Jones, $8,000; pitcher Jack Coffman, $6,000; pitcher Dick McEvoy, $6,000; pitcher Ralph Stewart, $8,000; and infielder Emmet McCann, $8,000.

This item of the cost of rookie players, says President Griffith, is the thing which runs into real money and eats up the cash taken in through the turnstile. This year the cost of rookie players, says President Griffith, is the thing which runs into real money and eats up the cash taken in through the turnstile.

Chill, Former Umpire, Seeks $200,000 Bail

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 4. (By A. P.)—Ollie Chill, former American association umpire, filed suit for $200,000 damages here today against the league and Thomas J. Hickey, its president, alleging he had been slandered.

Chill alleged that Hickey had given a statement to a Minneapolis newspaper in explanation of the umpire's dismissal, charging that Chill raised a hotel bill from $3 to $16 in sending in his expense account.

CALVERT FIVE WINS OVER CENTRAL

District Team Beaten, 26-16; Score Tied at Half, 10-10.

Special to The Washington Post.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 4.—Another speedy second-half attack carried Calvert Hall's basketball quintet to a 26-16 decision over the Central High school team, of Washington, here today.

Coach Dutch Lentz's aggregation was a bit slow in getting under way, and the Washington quintet took advantage of the opportunity to make its speed count. The Central outfit flashed a neat bit of floor work to step out in front and hold the margin at the end of the first period by an 8-to-6 score.

But the long-range shooting of Jimmy James and Duke Allen paved the way for the Cardinals to deadlock the Capital City five at half time. Extremely tight guarding marked the second session and the desperate efforts of the visitors to break through the heavier Calvert Hall defense took its toll, as Central went scoreless in the third quarter.

Duke Allen sent Calvert Hall out of the 10-to-10 knot with two neat field goals at the start of the third period. He then boosted the margin with another shot from the floor and one from the penalty strip by James gave the victors a 19-to-10 edge to start the final session.

The Washington aggregation again displayed a brilliant attack as Burgess and Nee out the advantage with field goals. But the Cardinals caged made most of their powerful attack to the back away a safe margin of victory before the second stringers took the floor to finish the contest.

WALLACE WINS BY KNOCKOUT.

Cleveland, Jan. 4. (By A. P.)—Billy Wallace, Cleveland, lightweight, won a technical knockout over Cuddy De Marco, of Pittsburgh, in the second round of a scheduled 12-round bout here tonight.

LANDIS TO QUIT 17; CHISOX SEEK TO SIGN SPEAKER, IS REPORT

Slim Evidence Against Judge Must Oust or Clear Men Involved, Is Feeling.

As Ten-Year Man Star Could Attach Self to Any Club.

Special to The Washington Post.

CHICAGO, Jan. 3.—While Kenesaw Mountain Landis was preparing tonight for the opening tomorrow of the most unusual inquiry ever held in the history of organized baseball, a new rumor was claiming attention. It was this:

Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the White Sox, is reported to have under consideration the offer of a contract to Tris Speaker.

It was definitely known that Mr. Comiskey has discussed the wisdom of attempting to acquire the services of the former Cleveland manager whose mysterious demise from the leadership of a team that had just finished in second place, has not been satisfactorily explained.

The American league bosses have admitted that Speaker was slipped out of his $50,000 a year job. The public has been led to assume that the Cleveland club wanted to force Speaker out in order to avert a threatening scandal storm.

If that was the club owners' purpose it failed. For the Leonard charges were broadcast in full. By this time the public must be aware that the only charge against Speaker is the statement of Dutch Leonard. Over Cobb's head hangs the shadow of a letter he wrote. Speaker was not mentioned in a single written word. Over his head is Leonard's story and that alone.

Those who have urged Comiskey to sign Speaker have pointed this out. They have added that Judge Landis has never said that either Speaker or Cobb could not get back in baseball. They have told Comiskey that they believe while the club is a popular idea. These friends of Speaker argue that Schalk, Collins, Faber and all the others named in Charles Risberg's story of thrown games are under a cloud of the same texture as the cloud that now blots Speaker from the game.

Army's Relay Team May Race at Drake

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 4. (By A. P.)—A West Point team may compete in this year's Drake relay race, said E. C. Lytton, Drake business manager, said today he had the promise of Leo A. Novak, track coach of the Military Academy, that he would endeavor to enter a cadet team. The Army has never been represented in the Drake games. Efforts also have been made to bring a Princeton team to the meet, Lytton said.

GENUINE BEATS OLD SLIP BY HEAD AT NEW ORLEANS

Arcady Wilts In Stretch Running

Judge's Filly, Elfedee, Wins Opener at Odds of 32-1.

Hats Up and Germaine Chauvelot Also Lead Fields.

FAIR GROUNDS, New Orleans, Jan. 4. (By A. P.)—Mrs. W. J. Potter's recently acquired Genuine made good at the first asking when he led home a high class field in the C. H. Hyma's handicap, which featured the cat today. Genuine was claimed by his present owner at Jefferson Park when she paid $6,000 for him. Old Slip, racing for George Collins, was second, and Moss Goldblatt's Arcady third.

The 6 furlong race was run in the first time of 1:13.4. There was an eight-minute delay at the barrier due to the twisting and turning of several of the horses. They were finally sent away to a good start. Stampede broke first, but he could not hold his lead. Genuine took up the running, but before they had gone a furlong Arcady made a game effort to take the lead. He succeeded and led Genuine to the stretch.

In the final sixteenth Genuine again moved to the front, and under weak handling managed to win by a head over Old Slip, who best Arcady half a length for the place.

J. S. ("To") Wallace, placing Judge at Miami and the pleasure of seeing his colors down in front in the opening event when his filly Elfedee, with Workman up, gained the purse. She paid $6,000 for a $25 ticket. Frank Hawley landed the place, with Miami Triad third.

There was much of rough riding in this race, in which two of the contenders were knocked out of it in the final strides. Elfedee then drew away to win by a head over Frank Hawley, with Miami Triad third, half a length.

E. H. Von Renn's Hats Up, running back to his previous good race, was an easy winner of the second event, which was a sprint over the 6 furlong route. Pomegranate, the favorite, landed second money, while Col. Scholier placed the show of the race.

Hats Up jumped away to a long lead and had his field driving hard to keep up in 100 yards. Pomegranate came with a run in the stretch but was up to much too much for him and won by a length and a half. Pomegranate lost Col. Scholier a length and a half for the place. The time was 1:12.5, which is slow, but this is due to the deep coming in the track.

Germaine Chauvelot made her first appearance under silks of the meeting, won the third stanza, a 5 1/2-furlong sprint for 3-year-olds. Dolly third, Stella was second and Lady Marie third.

Lady Marie made the early running, leading by a length to the stretch, where Sturdy Stella moved up and into the lead. However, she was unable to hold it, and was terminated by Germaine Chauvelot, who won by half a length.

Four lengths separated second and third horses.

Balboa, with Arnold in the saddle, won the mile and furlong gallop for old horses, leading Starbeck to the wire, with Ocean Current third. Applecross made the pace to the top of the stretch, where Balboa came along and in a drive won by half a length. Starbeck best Ocean Current four lengths.

The sixth event was won by Jack Weaver's Dolly Boy, with Dentaria second and Fire Boy third. The field ran well bunched to the stretch when Dolly Boy came with a rush and won in drive by a head.

The final race was won by Compromise, who defeated Fausto by half a length. Slate, the favorite, was third.

GENUINE BEARS OLD SLIP BY HEAD AT NEW ORLEANS

Arcady Wilts In Stretch Running

Judge's Filly, Efeldee, Wins Opener at Odds of 32-1.

Hats Up and Germaine Chavelot Also Lead Fields.

FAIR GROUNDS, New Orleans, Jan. 4 (By A. P.)—Mrs. W. J. Potter's recently acquired Genuine made good at the first asking, when he led home a high class field in the C. H. Hym's handicap, which featured the card today. Genuine was claimed by his present owner at Jefferson Park when he paid $6,000 for him. Old Slip, racing for George Collier, was second, and Mose Goldblatt's Arcady third.

The 6 furlongs were run in the fast time of 1:18.4. There was an eight-minute delay at the barrier due to the twisting and turning of several of the horses. They were finally sent away to a good start. Stampele broke first but he could not hold his lead. Genuine took up the running, but before they had gone a furlong Arcady made a game effort to take the lead. He succeeded and led Genuine to the stretch.

In the final sixteenth Genuine again moved to the front, and under weak handling managed to win by a head over Old Slip, who beat Arcady half a length for the place.

J. S. ("Tony") Wallace, placing Judge at Miami, had the pleasure of seeing his colors down in front in the opening event when his filly Efeldee, with Workman up, gained the purse. She paid $65.00 for a 32-1 shot. Frank Hawley landed the place, with Miami Triad third.

There was much of rough riding in this race, in which two of the contenders were knocked out of it in the final strides. Efeldee then drew away to win by a head over Frank Hawley with Miami Triad third, half a length back.

S. H. Von Roenn's Hats Up, running back to his previous good race, was an easy winner of the second event, which was a sprint over the 4 furlong route. Pomegranate, the favorite, landed second money, while Col. Schooner gained the show end of the purse.

Hats Up jumped away to a long lead and had his field driving hard to keep up in the early part. Pomegranate came with a rush and in the end won by a length and a half. Pomegranate beat Col. Schooner a length and a half for the place. Hats Up was a 1:18.2, which is slow, but this is due to the deep condition of the track.

Germaine Chavelot, after her first appearance under silks of the meeting, won the third stanza, a 5 1/2-furlong sprint for 3-year-olds fillies. Sturdy Stella was second and Lady Marie third.

Lady Marie made the early running, leading by a length and a half in the stretch, where Sturdy Stella moved up into the lead. However, she was unable to hold it, and the determined bid of Germaine Chavelot, who won by half a length.

Four lengths separated second and third horses.

Balboa, with Arnold in the saddle, won the mile and furlong gallop for old horses, leading Starbuck to the wire, with Ocean Current third. Applauder made the pace to the top of the stretch, where Balboa came in and in a drive won by half a length. Starbuck beat Ocean Current four lengths.

The sixth event was won by Jack Weaver's Dolly Bay, with Dentaria second and Fire Boy third. The field ran well bunched to the wire, where Dolly Bay came with a rush and won in a drive by a head.

The final race was won by Compromise, who defeated Panto by a length. Slate, the favorite, was third.

BONDS ADVANCE AFTER OPENING IRREGULARLYActivity and Strength of French Issues Feature
Foreign Group.

LEHIGH 4S AT NEW PEAK

New York, Jan. 4 (By the Associated Press).—A strong undertone was apparent in today's bond market. The ready absorption of new offerings and the increase in the investment demand, combined with indications of easier credit conditions, had a cheerful effect on sentiment. Early irregularity was attributed to the concurrent weakness of the stock market, but prices stiffened as the session progressed, and there was a marked increase in the volume of business.

Activity and strength of the French issues again featured the foreign group. The highest prices in a year or longer were recorded by French 7 1/2% of 1941 and French 7% of 1940. Paris-Lyon-Mediterranean 4s and 7s and the 6 per cent issues of Lyons, Marseilles and Soissons, the gains ranging from fractions to points. Other foreign issues were mixed, with a few points in Rhine Union 7s as the only change of consequence.

Saided Union 7s, irregularly higher, Lehigh Valley 4s touching a new peak at 87 1/2, and Philadelphia, Baltimore and Western 4s at 94 1/2. Delaware and Hudson convertible 6s reacted 2 points. A falling off in the interest due on January 1 is not being paid, but that coupon representing said interest is being purchased. Public utility issues were inclined to heavy.

Prompt oversubscription was reported of the $8,000,000 Porto Rican American Tobacco Co. fifteen-year 6 per cent convertible bond. Negotiations also were reported under way for a $10,000,000 issue of the state of Rio Grande du Sul, Brazil, at 100,000,000 to the Montevideo Co. one of the largest producers of fertilizers in Italy.

Public offering of $10,000,000 International Power Securities Corporation 7 per cent secured gold bonds, series F, at 90 1/2 and interest, to yield 7.30 per cent, will be made tomorrow. The bonds will be secured by the Edison General Electric Co. and two of its subsidiaries.

HUDSON BILL ASKS INQUIRY OF FEDERAL RETIREMENT PLAN

3 Senators, 3 Representatives and 3 Presidential Appointees Would Serve.

MEMBERS TO REPRESENT EMPLOYEES' CONFERENCE

Asks $10,000 to Carry Out
Investigation by Next January.

A bill calling for an investigation of the administration of the retirement system by a commission of nine was introduced in the House yesterday by Representative Hudson, of Michigan. Hudson sponsored a liberalized retirement plan at the last session.

One section of the commission would be composed of three members of the House and three of the Senate. The third group would be made up of one member from the executive department of the government, one from the employees' joint conference on retirement and an outsider to be an expert in insurance. These latter three members would be appointed by the President. The bill authorizes an appropriation of $10,000 for the expenses of the commission, the members serving without pay. It would report its findings to Congress by January 1.

Hudson's proposal is designed to get at the whole workings of the retirement law as liberalized at the last session of Congress but which the employees contend is yet far from being fair and equitable.

Maximum Held Too Low. At present the maximum annuity of $1,000 is too low, they contend, and under the act some employees contribute far more to the retirement fund than others. This latter complaint has been substantiated by government officials. The method of financing the retirement fund especially works against the higher paid employees, it is said.

The proposal is designed particularly to get at the actual proportion of retirement cost paid by the government and employees. It is the ultimate stipendous cost to the government which is used as an argument against further liberalization of the act, while the employees' representatives argue that the cost has been greatly exaggerated.

There are bills pending to further liberalize the retirement annuities at this session, but any legislation on the subject is considered out of the question. Hudson is confident, however, that he will be able to get successful action on his bill, which, it is believed, would pave the way for settling the perennial controversy.

Extradition Power Upheld by Court

Chief Justice Walter I. McCoy, of the District Supreme Court, upheld his own power in extradition cases yesterday, when W. C. Sullivan, attorney for Mrs. Myra Hill, challenged her right to sit as an "executive officer" of the District and to honor a requisition from Massachusetts for the return of Mrs. Hill to that State for trial on an indictment charging false pretenses.

Sullivan contended that Congress went beyond its constitutional powers in designating a judicial officer to act as an executive officer. Assistant District Attorney Neil Burkinshaw supported the act of Congress and won. Mrs. Hill will be given a hearing on a writ of habeas corpus this morning before Justice Frederick L. Siddons.

SOUTHEAST WAITING TRAFFIC SIGNAL REPORT

Business Men's Association
Also Will Hear Discussion of Park Proposal.

Reports on the progress of two outstanding objectives of business men of the southeast—the white way and traffic signal lights like those on Sixteenth street for Pennsylvania avenue southeast and the incorporation into a park of a jumble of triangles near the intersection of Pennsylvania avenue and Seventh street southeast—will be made at the meeting of the Southeast Business Men's Association next Wednesday night at 8 o'clock in W. A. Simpson's hall, 530 Seventh street southeast.

BETTER LIGHTING SOUGHT

The report on the white way and traffic lights will be made by Clarence H. Haver, chairman of the special committee furthering these objectives. Mr. Donohoe will call a meeting of the committee in his offices next Monday night to complete his report.

The business men are making a special effort to obtain the traffic lights as well as the white way, which from its beginning on Sixteenth street had spread to several other thoroughfares of the city. James B. Flynn, secretary of the association, said yesterday that the great number of accidents which have occurred in recent months on Pennsylvania avenue southeast has prompted the request for the lights.

The report on the park project will be made by W. A. Simpson, chairman of the committee. According to Mr. Flynn, the business men hope to have these triangles formed into a square which will be a civic center. It will still be divided by Pennsylvania avenue, but can be made an attractive double park, he said. The plan is to close South Carolina avenue from Seventh to Ninth streets, thus consolidating the triangles.

The rescue squad from No. 2 engine, and the police reserves from No. 9 precinct station, commanded by Captain Charles T. Pack, responded. The children, after about 45 minutes, they marched back to their rooms.

John L. Phillips Asks Leave to Sue Government for Alleged Overpayment.

John L. Phillips, lumber dealer and former Republican State committeeman, from Georgia, who is one of the principal defendants in an equity suit filed by the Federal government for an accounting in connection with the claims by the government, that Phillips and his associates are holding about $1,500,000 belonging to the Government from the sales of surplus war time lumber, asked permission of the court yesterday to file a supplemental answer in the nature of a cross-bill.

The object of the cross-bill is to have the court require the Federal government to account for an alleged overpayment of $200,000, made by Phillips and his partner, John Stephens, who is also a defendant.

Douglas, Syme & Ellis, counsel for Phillips, set up the acquittal of Phillips, Stephens and others on an indictment of conspiracy to defraud as a bar to the prosecution of the equity suit, the contention being that the criminal court jury decided that there existed no conspiracy to defraud.

This case was one of the so-called war fraud cases. The equity case is to be tried on January 10.

ALL ALONE. Six-year-old Robert Henderson, travelling alone from Dunrobin castle, Scotland, to visit an uncle, James Christie, in New York, was met by his mother at the Union station last night for his train that would put him on the last lap of his long journey. And he looked every bit of a man. He wore suspenders and a manly vest of which he was very proud. To top this he displayed a bright red tie.

"Yes, I like New York and Washington," he said, "and I had a good time on the Celtic coming over. I like the telephone best of all."

A silly thing, he described it when he placed it to his ear and a voice called out "Number, please!" He had never seen a telephone before landing in New York.

Another thing which tickled him exceedingly was the taking of his picture by flashlight.

"It's great," he exclaimed, with his eyes dancing as the flash went off. This, too, was another of the many new experiences that he is having on this long journey.

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS HEAR C. I. OHRENSTEIN

Member of Board of Lectureship Gives Address in Third Church.

"Christian Science: The Divine Declaration of Independence," was the subject of a lecture given last night in Third Church of Christ, Scientist, by Charles I. Ohrenstein, of Syracuse, N. Y. Ohrenstein is a member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

He was introduced by Walter H. Webb, First Reader of Third Church, under whose auspices the lecture was given. The lecturer said in part:

"Divers measures are being taken to bring about the 'abomination to the Lord,' we read in Proverbs. To the chemist water is always a mixture of hydrogen and oxygen. To the Christian Scientist man is always the image and likeness of God. And just as every chemist knows the truth about water, so every Christian Scientist knows the truth about man. He also knows that just as the chemist by distillation, by a right process of elimination, can restore pure water, H₂O, so the Christian Scientist knowing that man, the reflection of Mind, consists only of right ideas, can by the purification of thought, and the elimination of superstition, of ignorance, of materiality, and their attendant fears, diseases, untruthfulness, dishonesty, greed, malice, envy, hatred, jealousy, revenge, and immorality, restore the true man, 'which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness,' that is, in health, harmony and perfection. Indeed it is in this way that healing by Christian Science is brought about, and such healing is always reformatory."

"Every Christian Scientist will tell you that the understanding of the nature of God, of Christ, of Truth, and of man—the understanding that the kind of man which God made is the only real man, has enabled him to be a healthier, a happier, a kinder, a more manly man than he formerly was; that it has made him freer and happier, and that in thousands upon thousands of cases it has prolonged the span of human life beyond all expectancy."

"We have ascertained here in a perfectly simple, logical way that there is only one real Mind; that this one and only Mind is all-good and infinite, and being such, is the source of all appearance, irrespective of all that is believed—this Mind is the only real presence, the only real power, the only real consciousness, and therefore the only true cause of everything that really is, of everything that can be thought, felt, known, experienced. Do not follow that everything that is really thought, felt, known, and experienced is in conformity with this all-wise, all-inclusive Mind? Ascertained truth is Science."

"I submit, therefore, that in accordance with this universal principle, definition, by all the rules of logic, by all the rules of common sense, what we have ascertained here is Science, and nothing less than Science."

"During the trying years through which the world has been passing, men and all countries have been looking for some one wise enough, strong enough to save and to deliver them. Christian Science teaches us that the God-anointed or Christ-idea, the image and likeness of God, is the only true man—the one who must endure the trials of this world, the spiritual, this right idea of being—the ever present Christ or Truth—is the one wise enough, strong enough, good enough, compassionate enough, and loving enough to save and to deliver all. It teaches us that this, the only Saviour, has come, and stands knocking for admission; and this idea is none other than Truth, the Light of the World, the Prince of Peace! His name is Christian Science, and he shall rule all peoples and all nations with the rod of unending and unbending Love."

Julius Demont, veteran caterer, who died December 20, left an estate valued at more than $200,000, according to the petition for letters testamentary, filed yesterday in Probate court by his widow, Mrs. Mary L. Demont. His son, Charles H. Demont and his daughter, Mrs. Helen Demont Titus, the sole heirs.

The estate includes the Demont factory at 2021-23-25 L street northwest, the store at 1021-1023-1025-1027-1029-1031-1033-1035-1037-1039-1041-1043-1045-1047-1049-1051-1053-1055-1057-1059-1061-1063-1065-1067-1069-1071-1073-1075-1077-1079-1081-1083-1085-1087-1089-1091-1093-1095-1097-1099-1101-1103-1105-1107-1109-1111-1113-1115-1117-1119-1121-1123-1125-1127-1129-1131-1133-1135-1137-1139-1141-1143-1145-1147-1149-1151-1153-1155-1157-1159-1161-1163-1165-1167-1169-1171-1173-1175-1177-1179-1181-1183-1185-1187-1189-1191-1193-1195-1197-1199-1201-1203-1205-1207-1209-1211-1213-1215-1217-1219-1221-1223-1225-1227-1229-1231-1233-1235-1237-1239-1241-1243-1245-1247-1249-1251-1253-1255-1257-1259-1261-1263-1265-1267-1269-1271-1273-1275-1277-1279-1281-1283-1285-1287-1289-1291-1293-1295-1297-1299-1301-1303-1305-1307-1309-1311-1313-1315-1317-1319-1321-1323-1325-1327-1329-1331-1333-1335-1337-1339-1341-1343-1345-1347-1349-1351-1353-1355-1357-1359-1361-1363-1365-1367-1369-1371-1373-1375-1377-1379-1381-1383-1385-1387-1389-1391-1393-1395-1397-1399-1401-1403-1405-1407-1409-1411-1413-1415-1417-1419-1421-1423-1425-1427-1429-1431-1433-1435-1437-1439-1441-1443-1445-1447-1449-1451-1453-1455-1457-1459-1461-1463-1465-1467-1469-1471-1473-1475-1477-1479-1481-1483-1485-1487-1489-1491-1493-1495-1497-1499-1501-1503-1505-1507-1509-1511-1513-1515-1517-1519-1521-1523-1525-1527-1529-1531-1533-1535-1537-1539-1541-1543-1545-1547-1549-1551-1553-1555-1557-1559-1561-1563-1565-1567-1569-1571-1573-1575-1577-1579-1581-1583-1585-1587-1589-1591-1593-1595-1597-1599-1601-1603-1605-1607-1609-1611-1613-1615-1617-1619-1621-1623-1625-1627-1629-1631-1633-1635-1637-1639-1641-1643-1645-1647-1649-1651-1653-1655-1657-1659-1661-1663-1665-1667-1669-1671-1673-1675-1677-1679-1681-1683-1685-1687-1689-1691-1693-1695-1697-1699-1701-1703-1705-1707-1709-1711-1713-1715-1717-1719-1721-1723-1725-1727-1729-1731-1733-1735-1737-1739-1741-1743-1745-1747-1749-1751-1753-1755-1757-1759-1761-1763-1765-1767-1769-1771-1773-1775-1777-1779-1781-1783-1785-1787-1789-1791-1793-1795-1797-1799-1801-1803-1805-1807-1809-1811-1813-1815-1817-1819-1821-1823-1825-1827-1829-1831-1833-1835-1837-1839-1841-1843-1845-1847-1849-1851-1853-1855-1857-1859-1861-1863-1865-1867-1869-1871-1873-1875-1877-1879-1881-1883-1885-1887-1889-1891-1893-1895-1897-1899-1901-1903-1905-1907-1909-1911-1913-1915-1917-1919-1921-1923-1925-1927-1929-1931-1933-1935-1937-1939-1941-1943-1945-1947-1949-1951-1953-1955-1957-1959-1961-1963-1965-1967-1969-1971-1973-1975-1977-1979-1981-1983-1985-1987-1989-1991-1993-1995-1997-1999-2001-2003-2005-2007-2009-2011-2013-2015-2017-2019-2021-2023-2025-2027-2029-2031-2033-2035-2037-2039-2041-2043-2045-2047-2049-2051-2053-2055-2057-2059-2061-2063-2065-2067-2069-2071-2073-2075-2077-2079-2081-2083-2085-2087-2089-2091-2093-2095-2097-2099-2101-2103-2105-2107-2109-2111-2113-2115-2

"It matters not how deep entrenched

How hard the battle goes, the day
how long;
Faint not—fight on! Tomorrow comes the song."

Regarding his charge that Members of Congress are on very friendly terms with the Hon. John Barleycorn, the Hon. Damp Celler, of New York, "stands by his guns" instead of by the big guns.

Now that Floyd Bennett, for his feat in flying to the north pole, has been promoted by act of Congress from aviation pilot to machinist, the old reproach about the ingratitude of republics must be regarded as forever silenced.

The revolt in Congress may be said to have reached the stage of revolution when a land-lubber like Fred Britten can claim that he knows more about the navy than the skipper of the Mayflower. How many cruises to Hains Point has he been on?

By the time Gov. Ferguson's term expires Ma will be about the only person in Texas who hasn't been pardoned.

If in the end Buddy is forced to cash his insurance certificates with the bootleggers it won't be the first time that Congress in its impenetrable wisdom has legislated in the interest of those getting by.

If Uncle Sam neglected his duty in Latin America and foreign Powers were obliged to land armed forces to protect their own nationals maybe Senator Borah wouldn't think that had anything to do with the Monroe Doctrine, either.

Our army flares on their way to double Cape Horn may not be making much progress, but they're covering a lot of ground.

"The liquid air his moving pinions wound,
And in a moment thrust him on the ground."

Shall we to John Paul Jones then be loyal?
Lulled by the Pifflebund's melodious bunk:
See Yellow China mistress of the Blue—
The once proud Yankee warship merely junk?
Give us this day the wisdom to be brave.
Wise in the ancient faith that made us strong.
Lord! Thou hast given us to rule the wave—
Let us not sell our birthright for a song.

FOREIGNERS ASSAILED IN YANGTZE VALLEY

Heavy Street Conflict Comes as Result of Raid on the British Concession.

Hankow, China, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).— English-speaking women of the British concession here started to leave tonight for Shanghai for safety, with heavy street fighting in progress between Chinese police and mobs of Chinese coolies, who last night swarmed into the concession.

The women assembled at the American consulate and began taking launches to steamers midstream in the Yangtze river.
In addition to the street fighting, buildings of the concession were being stormed. The union jack over the British consulate was hauled down and replaced with the Cantonese flag. The letter flag also was hoisted over the British police station.

It was impossible for foreigners to venture into the streets of the concession without being mobbed.

American Ships on Way.

Shanghai, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—American and British warships whittened the waters of the great Yangtze river today in their haste to reach Hankow to protect foreigners from Chinese hordes who Monday and again yesterday attacked the British concession district.
The warships were driven hard to reinforce others keeping watch along the river front where stretch the British and other foreign concessions.

Chinese steamers closed down today when reports of disorderly mobs, Hankow insisting that all bargasses had been torn down by Chinese mobs which poured into the British concession and damaged the British war memorial. An unconfirmed report stated that the mobs seized the customs house and drove the British from their quarters.

Troops of the Cantonese government took charge of the concession, appearing more promptly than on Monday when a small British force without firing held its ground for four hours against thousands of frenzied Chinese who attempted to do violence to the foreign civilians in the district.

Thousands Are In Peril.

$57,826,515 in Building Authorized Here in 1926

Report by Oehmann—$8,500,000 in August Is Peak—Northwest Section Leads.

Building operations in Washington authorized in the last calendar year had a total value of $57,826,515, according to figures made public yesterday by John W. Oehmann, District building inspector.

The high total was achieved in spite of the fact that the last six months of the year showed a decline of $5,423,215 in operations authorized over the first six months.

Building to the value of $31,624,820 was authorized in the six months from January to June, inclusive, and $26,- 201,697 from July to December.

August was the highest month, with a total of $8,549,640. April was second with $7,999,250, and March, when operations authorized had a total value of $7,228,450, was a close third. December, the last month in the year, was last in point of value of operations authorized, permits being issued in that month for construction having a value of only $2,628,600.

A comparison of the building authorized in each month of the year follows: January, $3,270,300; February, $3,282,765; March, $7,228,450;
April, $7,999,250; May, $4,323,670; June,
$5,520,385; July, $4,106,865; August, $8,- 549,640; September, $4,216,780; October, $3,632,160; November, $3,067,650; and December, $2,628,600.

By far the largest portion of the total value was made up by construction in the northwest section of the city, where several large apartments, expensive homes, business and office buildings were authorized.

The widespread and rapid development of the city, however, was shown in figures for the northeast and southeast sections. Construction of buildings having a total value of $8,552,225 was authorized for the northeast section, and $2,388,580 for the southeast section.

These figures, Inspector Oehmann said, represented only new buildings authorized by his department and did not include the estimated value of repair and remodeling of existing buildings.
Work of repair and remodeling was carried on to a value of $5,673,115, of which $3,239,595 was authorized in the first six months of the year and $2,- 433,520 in the last six months.

Repair and remodeling in the northeast section of the city had a value of $677,230, of which $376,650 was authorized in the first half and $300,580 in the last half of the year.

Southeast repair and remodeling work had a value of $276,980, of which $162,- 660 was authorized in the first six months and $114,320 in the second six months of the year.

A larger amount of repair and remodeling was authorized in May than in any other month. In that month repairs authorized had a value of $936,885. April was second with $659,- 335, and July was third with $599,685.
December was last with $217,740.

PAN-AMERICAN FLAGSHIP CRASHES; WRECKS GEAR

Good Will Aviators to Remain at Guatemala City Until New York Is Repaired.

SMASH FOLLOWS START

Guatemala City, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—
For the second time since the take-off at San Antonio, Tex., on December 21, the United States army aviators have had to call a temporary halt to their 20,000 mile air jaunt over the Pan-American continent.

The New York flagship of the squadron which consists of five amphibian planes, made a forced landing a few minutes after taking the air
at the Aurora flying field this morning for the hop to San Salvador, and lost its landing gear. All the other planes, which immediately returned here after the accident, will remain at Guatemala
City for a week or two until the repairs to the flagship can be made.

DISORDERS IN MEXICO REPORTED CONTINUING

Government Troops, However,
Are Said at Capital to Be in Control.

CATHOLIC MOVE DENIED

Mexico City, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—Federal troops are declared by the Mexican government to have under control the bandit and revolutionary disturbances which broke out in various parts of the republic in the past few days. Order has been restored at Leon, Parais de la Fuente and Concepcion del Oro, where uprisings have occurred. The federals are said to be pursuing the bands of rebels and holdup men who have been responsible for these outrages.

Nevertheless, rumors of continuing trouble still trickle into Mexico City, but many of them are without confirmation in the newspaper dispatches or government reports.

It is believed that looting was the

DIAZ, IN NICARAGUA, RECEIVES AUTHORITY TO BUY ARMS HERE

Marines at Managua as British and Italians
Ask Protection.

SENATE COMMITTEE WILL CALL KELLOGG

Admiral Latimer Authorized to Ban Rebel Bases From His Neutral Zones.

By ALBERT W. FOX.
With President Coolidge now proceeding to put America's policy into effective operation in Nicaragua, the salient developments yesterday were the following:

First—American marines have been landed on the west coast of Nicaragua and proceeded to Managua to protect British and Italian property, as well as Americans, an appeal for such protection having been made by representatives of the British and Italian governments.

Second—President Coolidge has responded to the request of the Diaz constitutional government for permission to purchase arms and munitions in the United States by indicating that licenses for the export of such arms will be granted.

Third—While beginning its activities for protection of American and foreign interests on the Pacific side, the United States government announced effective steps to prevent the revolutionary forces from gathering supplies for future operations on the Atlantic side.

Nothing to Be Questioned.

While these affirmative steps were being taken by the administration, there continued a desultory fire of opposition among certain senators which brought forth a statement by Senator Borah, chairman of the foreign relations committee, such a statement by that com-tee to invite Secretary Kellogg to appear before it in the near future and explain certain matters pertaining to both Mexico and Nicaragua.

But it is conceded that statements by senators who had hoped to check the carrying out of President Coolidge's Nicaraguan or Mexican policies will now have merely an academic interest.
The die is cast so far as asserting America's traditional influence in Latin-American affairs is concerned and the Coolidge policy now squares with the policy initiated and carried on by Charles Evans Hughes when he was Secretary of State and supported constitutional governments in keeping with the letter and spirit of the Central American peace pact endorsed by the

TILSON TO REQUEST FUND FOR CRUISERS, DESPITE COOLIDGE

House Is Not in Conflict
With President, Says
G. O. P. Leader.

TEST OF STRENGTH TO BE MADE TODAY

Executive, in Letter, Declares Stand in Navy Budget Is Unchanged.

By NORMAN W. BAXTER.

The President has not, it was stated at the White House yesterday, yielded on the question of appropriating funds for additional cruisers.

There remained nothing for puzzled administration leaders in the House to do but yield to him, in the face of "big navy" sentiment that in the words of Representative John Q. Tilson, of Connecticut, floor leader, now constitutes a majority.

The White House statement, in the form of a letter to Representative Burton L. French, of Idaho, in charge of the naval appropriation bill, was an unequivocal denial that there had been any change on the part of the Chief Executive from his budget message, in which he said he wanted no appropriation for the three cruisers of the 1924 program for which no money has yet been allotted.

$100,000 To Begin Work.

Representative Tilson nevertheless, reiterated yesterday that he would introduce an amendment to the navy bill calling for an appropriation of around $400,000 to begin work on the three cruisers in question. He stated also that his plan was in substantial accord with the wishes of the President, although literally in direct conflict with the President's budget message. The President, in his letter to Representative French, said:

"This is to assure you that when I send a budget to the Congress it represents my best judgment and that I feel it my duty to defend it and support it, which I do at all times unless I send up a supplemental message."

Representative Tilson, whose decision on the cruiser amendment was not made public until after a visit to the White House, said: "This amendment is a compromise between the two extremes of those who want no money appropriated and those who want large sums. It is apparent to everyone that between those who want no money appropriated and those who want a big appropriation the latter are in a big majority."

No Conflict, Tilson Says.

BANKS EASING REFUSAL IN LOANS TO VETERANS

475 Holders of Insurance Certificates Obtain $50,000 in Three Days.

HOUSE GETS MANY BILLS

Washington veterans who had faced an almost completely blank wall of refusal of their requests for loans on their insurance certificates Monday and Tuesday, yesterday began to experience the new sensation of having their requests granted.

But despite the fact that it was estimated that 300 certificate holders had walked out of various banks with something like $30,000 in their pockets at the close of business yesterday, there was only a slight easing in the general refusal of banks to accept the presentation of a certificate as a legal demand on their funds.

Most of the loans made yesterday were granted by the larger banks, with some of the smaller ones, pointing enough, but firmly refusing to accept a certificate which they insisted is bound with red tape as security for a loan.
Loans ranged from $40 up to $138, with the average around $100, banks reported, and a recapitulation of the certificate loan business since Monday brought the estimated total of loans since the banks opened Monday to 475 for a total in the neighborhood of $50,000.

The rumpus raised by the country-wide apathy of banks toward the certificate as security for loans was reflected in the House into which yesterday there began to pour a number of bills designed to remedy the situation. And it became apparent that the House ways and means committee

SWEEPING DENIALS GREET RISBERG AS HE FACES PLAYERS

Landis Hears Collins and Dauss Attempt to Refute Charges.

ACCUSED MEN USE STRONG LANGUAGE

Weaver Asks Judge for Reinstatement; Hearing to Be Resumed Tomorrow.

Chicago, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—Sweeping denials were made by members of the White Sox and Detroit Tigers, players of the past and present, of "Swede" Risberg's accusations that the White Sox bought a series from the Tigers in 1917, when Keneas Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, brought the players face to face with their accuser in the unprecedented hearing that opened here today.

Added to these denials, the baseball players believed, were two bits of concrete evidence that indicated innocence on the part of all those accused and tended to shoot the story Risberg told,
under oath, full of holes.

The first was a canceled check, dramatically produced by Eddie Collins, former second baseman of the White Sox, and now with the Athletics, which showed a variance in its date with that mentioned by Risberg. The other was a statement by George Dauss, a pitcher with the Detroit club, that he had been paid $150 from a pool raised by the White Sox players, yet he did not pitch in the series in which Risberg said that "sloping" was done.

When the hearing was adjourned early tonight, after nearly six hours of testimony, twenty-odd players had faced Risberg and denied his charges, and more of them will take the stand when the hearing is resumed tomorrow, prepared to tear his accusations to pieces.

Gandil to Substantiate Charges.

"Chick" Gandil, involved with Ris-berg and six other former White Sox in the crooked world's series of 1919, will come to Risberg's rescue Friday in an attempt to substantiate the "Swede's" story.

Risberg, nervously puffing a cigarette, told his sensational story in a room packed with the great stars of the diamond on whom he was to place the brand of bribery. When Risberg took the stand there was a moment of deadly silence as his eyes swept the room picking out the players he accused. The "Swede" did not say a word to any of his old baseball pals as he edged his way into the office to take the witness chair and none of them
